To Whom It May Concern:

It is with great pleasure that I write this letter concerning Heidi Marble who until she moved to Washington was a board member of the NorthBay Healthcare Foundation which provides funding for NorthBay Medical Center and NorthBay VacaValley Hospital in Solano County, California.

Heidi's involvement with NorthBay was the result of treatment she received from NorthBay's Cancer Center. Her successful fight against cancer has been an inspiration to many others.

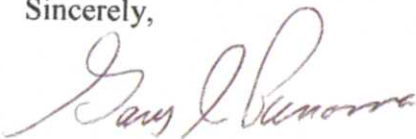

During her tenure as a NorthBay board member, she spoke numerous times to audiences regarding her experiences as a cancer survivor. Heidi is a very effective speaker and her audiences get very emotionally involved with her presentation. She has spoken to groups large and small and her stage presence is such that she captures her audiences with her first words. Heidi has a compelling appearance which enhances her presentations.

While Heidi was a board member, the NorthBay Healthcare Foundation developed a 17-minute video history of NorthBay Healthcare. Originally meant to be used as a fundraising tool, I now use it for our monthly new employee orientation, service club meetings and for presentations to political figures who visit us. The last part of that video contains a segment of Heidi speaking of her experiences and it is a powerful presentation. Without exception during such presentations of the video, Heidi's segment which consists of a close up of her while she speaks produces an extremely strong emotional reaction. Live audiences have the same reaction when Heidi makes presentations.

When you hear Heidi speak, you understand the nature of personal courage and commitment to overcoming the obstacles placed in one's path. Audiences come away understanding that hope is not negotiable and Heidi is an example of that.

She is a great speaker and I highly recommend her.

Sincerely,

Gary J. Passama

To Whom It May Concern:

It is with great pleasure that I write this letter of recommendation for Heidi Marble, author of Waiting for Wings: A Woman's Metamorphosis through Cancer. Heidi was the featured speaker at the 2009 annual luncheon for Children's Center, a non-profit agency specializing in services to children and youth.

Heidi's generous donation of time and talent made this our most successful luncheon ever! The audience very much enjoyed her lively and thoughtful personal story of hope, courage and resiliency. The audience connected readily with Heidi's warmth and passion. We continue to receive many positive comments about the event.

Most importantly, her presentation moved many people to learn more about the critical mental health services Children's Center provides. As a result, Heidi opened many new doors for us. We are grateful for this unexpected gift and for the opportunities it presents to the agency in fulfilling its mission.

Sincerely,

Pat Beckett, Executive Director

RE: Letter of Recommendation for Heidi Marble

To Whom It May Concern,

I am pleased to provide this letter of recommendation for Heidi Marble. As Director of the Small Business Development Center (SBDC), I worked with Heidi when she was launching her business and publishing her first book. Several of my staff at the SBDC have read her book and highly recommend it.

Heidi has been a motivational speaker at several venues here in Solano County including an event sponsored by the Solano College Foundation in 2007. She has a very dramatic and inspirational story to tell. Heidi used art as a channel of healing and I have had the opportunity to see some of her artwork and it is amazing. I highly recommend Heidi as a speaker and hope that more people have the opportunity to hear her story.

Sincerely,

Charles Eason
Director

To Whom It May Concern:

Please accept this letter of recommendation for Heidi Marble. Heidi was the guest speaker at our American Cancer Society's Relay For Life in Vacaville, CA, in 2006. We were so impressed with Heidi and her story of survival, we asked her to speak at both the opening ceremony, which celebrates survival, and at the evening's Luminary ceremony, which serves to remember those who lost the battle.

In the opening ceremonies, she was inspiring and entertaining, setting the mood for an exciting start to our 24-hour event! She shared her story honestly, with emotion and humor. The crowd loved her!

In the evening, we played a video of Heidi's journey as part of the Luminary ceremony. While it is a somber ceremony, Heidi's story helped to infuse HOPE to everyone that was there. I was honored to walk beside Heidi in the Survivor's lap.

I also own and have read Heidi's book, as well as shared it with many others. It serves to remind us how precious life is, how fragile yet strong our bodies are, and how faith, hope, and a wicked determination to live, can have amazing results. I have even shared Heidi's book with people who are fighting battles that are not cancer related – just because her story is so inspiring. It lets people know that you can overcome even the most difficult situations.

Heidi is an amazing inspiration and can tell her story in the appropriate manner for the setting. I highly recommend Heidi as an inspirational speaker and writer.

Sincerely,
Diane Hohn

To whom it may concern,

My name is Cindy Love and I am the Executive Director of Albie Aware, Inc. a northern California Breast Cancer Foundation. I am writing this letter on behalf of Heidi Marble, and my associations with her.

I contacted Heidi a few years ago after a friend heard her at a speaking engagement and bought me her book. My friend was taken with her speech. I was very captivated by the book and called Heidi so that we could personally introduce ourselves and learn more of each others work.

We meet in Heidi's home and she showed me her beautiful art work and mannequins. I immediately took to her warm and loving personality. We shared ways in which we might help one another with our missions. I invited Heidi to come and speak at our Walk Kick off Event. Heidi did a brilliant job at that event and there was not a dry eye in the house. Not only did she address the challenges of breast cancer but she wove in stories of the challenges we all face in life everyday. Looking around the room I could see what a great choice she was to have spoken at this event. There was a connectedness and bonding that occurred with her delivery, kind heart, strengths and humor. She did a fantastic job and personal friends of mine who attended that event still remember with fondness "Heidi's story".

A couple of months later Heidi spoke at our actual Walk event that was held at the State Capitol. I wondered how she would ever top her previous talk, but somehow she managed to pull it off. It is not an easy task to get 500 peoples attention. Well, Heidi can do it. Her inner and out err beauty draw people to her and she has just the right amount of flair to make you laugh, cry and then walk away feeling very good. Heidi is a dynamic and talented speaker that will win hearts time and time again.

Yours truly,

Cindy Love

Executive Director
